

AP World History Review Calendar

For the evening sessions that run across the dinner hours, please feel free to bring a meal to eat during our study sessions. These will be, for the most part, working dinner sessions, which means that you munch along quietly while we work. Try to choose things that are simple to package, eat, and clean up. We'll try to coordinate some other snacks and desserts to supplement whatever you decide to bring for yourself.

Speaking of studying, taking 15-30 minutes/night between now and 05/17 will make the AP World exam a manageable feat. Seriously, a little bit goes a long way, but there's lots of info to refresh and review. Starting now will lower your stress considerably. Reread those review questions, drag out your IDs, visit the flashcard site for the Bentley 3rd edition, read the review book, meet for coffee and discuss your review questions. All of these activities will help. We'll be doing some stuff in class over the couple of weeks to help, but you need to do some on your own if you're interested in doing well and having the best possible shot to "pass".
